A. P. C. to Present Andover's Landmarks

Two o'clock on Friday afternoon, December 4, will mark the opening of the bazaar which the A. P. C. sorority of the South church is sponsoring in the town hall. At this time many of Andover's old stores will be revived, and residents of the town will enjoy roaming through them, and finding many things to suit their fancy. For all who cannot come on Friday afternoon, the stores will be open through into the evening, and the same hours will be repeated on Saturday.

The townspeople are showing by their ticket purchases a keen interest in the entertainments which will be presented at 8.15 each evening. Mrs. J. Albion Burtt has an instrumental group assisting in presenting the "Album Memories of Andover" on Friday evening, with Mrs. Charles Cole, pianist; Miss Ethel Farrington, cellist; Philip Carr, violinist; and Mrs. Clyde White playing the flute. Miss Gertrude Farrington will be the soloist of the evening.

Saturday evening, "Ye Greate Concerte" will prove a tremendous treat to all music lovers. This concert will be a reproduction of a concert given in the Town Hall in 1874 as it would have been given in 1774. Among the soloists will be Mrs. Clyde White, Mrs. Madeline Conant, Mrs. Roland Parisian, and Miss Katherine McGlynn. In charge of the concert are Mrs. Mervin Stevens, Miss Edith Kendall and J. Everett Collins.

Patrons of the bazaar are urged to eat at the old Elm House at the town hall. Gypsy afternoon tea will be served on both days from 3.30 to 5, the charge being but 35 cents. Supper Friday night will be served from 5.30 to 7, the menu including a combined chicken and vegetable salad for 45 cents. There is also an Old Elm House special for 25 cents. On Saturday evening a supper of old-fashioned baked beans and brown bread will be served from 5 to 7. There will also be baked Indian pudding with whipped cream, layer cakes, pies at ten cents for each serving, doughnuts two for five cents, sweet cider for five cents, coffee five cents.

Mrs. Ralph E. Hadley and Mrs. Harold W. Leitch are co-chairmen.

RECREATIONAL PROJECT

A W.P.A. recreational project started Monday in the Shawshen school with the W.P.A. providing money for the workers, the Guild supplying equipment and the school department furnishing the accommodations. School children and boys and girls of teen age will take part.

No project has as yet been started in Ballardvale because of lack of lighting, heating, etc. The precinct rooms were available.

T.P.A. NAMES DELEGATES

Bernard L. McDonald and Louis Finger were named delegates to the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers associations convention to be held at the Statler on March 15 at a meeting of the local directors and officers held Monday evening.

Major Bowes Unit Performs

A special Thanksgiving eve Major Bowes unit took part in the annual Firemen's concert program held Wednesday evening in the new auditorium before a large crowd which came to see the first of the "Original Amateur" performances in this vicinity. There was a special children's show in the afternoon. Following the concert the annual firemen's ball was held.

The first number on the program was the Jackson Cowboys, presenting the same cowboy act which they presented on the Major Bowes program a week ago last night. Carol Leonard, a singer of popular songs, from North Pelham, N. Y., was next.

The hard-working accompanist for the whole show, Arthur Frechette of Boston, had his own spot on the program playing imitations of the style of leading radio pianists. He was followed by John Jewell of Freeport, L. I., where about half of the performers of vaudeville come from. He was self-christened as the world's champion banjo player, and he lived up to his christening.

The Hartford Swing String Trio of Hartford, Conn., showed that its name was not chosen without reason. Vivian Barlow of New York, an impersonator of the highest order brought several well-known characters, male as well as female, to the stage. Next George Holmes of New York, a colored boy, gave a dancing act which was well applauded.

Igor Ivan, serving as master of ceremonies, also took part in the show, justifying his cognomen, the romantic baritone.

NOVEMBER CLUB NOTES

Expect Record Enrollment in Courses

The rate at which registrations are being received for the Evening Study Groups to be held at Phillips academy again this winter gives definite promise of an even larger enrolment this year than in previous years. As a result of the somewhat wider publicity given the program in Lawrence and Methuen, residents of those communities have been prompt to enter their applications especially for those courses in which the enrolment must be limited. The directors of the Study Groups are therefore urging all who contemplate registering to send in their applications without undue delay. It should also be noted that for those who register on or before Saturday, December 12, the general registration fee will be $1.00 instead of the charge of $2.00 which will prevail after that date, plus the usual charge of $1.00 for each course elected. Those courses in which the enrolment must necessarily be limited are "Studio Art," to be given by Mr. Hayes on Tuesdays from 7.30 to 9.30 (limited to 20); "Effective Writing," given by Mr. Basford on Wednesdays from 8.40 to 9.40

(limited to 20); "Effective Speaking," given by Mr. Stott on Tuesdays from 8.40 to 9.40 (limited to 20); and "Conversational French," given by Mr. Grew on Wednesdays from 8.40 to 9.40 (limited to 15).

A course entitled "Capitalism, Socialism, Fascism, and Democracy: A Study in Definitions," under the leadership of Leonard F. James of the academy faculty, will attempt to define and clarify those terms around which so much discussion is centered today. The course will sketch the growth of capitalism from mercantilism, through its laissez-faire period, to its modern stage. It will trace the rise of political democracy and explain Marxism and the development of various branches of socialistic thought. Against a background of post-war Europe it will place the phenomena of Italian and German fascism and Russian communism, with reference to the specific aims and achievements of each. Discussion and questions will be encouraged, and reading lists will be given out. The course will meet Wednesdays at 7.30, beginning January 6.

The question of a restoration of the town employees' salary cut, in whole or in part, will in all probability be taken up at the annual town meeting in March, the movement having received considerable impetus from the many recent wage increases in textile and other industries. The salaries were cut a few years ago, the employees having donated a portion of their salaries the year before to the Emergency committee for unemployment relief.

No town department has as yet taken any action, as far as is known, on this question, although all departments are being asked by the finance committee to prepare figures with the increased salaries included in connection with the annual budgets on which work will start in the very near future. The finance committee's decision on the increases will in all probability rest on what other demands are made on the town treasury. Every effort will be made again to keep the tax rate from increasing. If no extraordinary demands are made and if the regular operating costs are kept down, the chances of securing the increased salaries will be much stronger.

Some discussion about increases has taken place at school board meetings, and the finance sub-committee has been studying the matter. The school committee several years ago was the first board to cut salaries, with the others following in line about three months later. This year however the committee is faced with drastically rising operating expenses, a number of new teachers and new janitors having been put on. Heating and lighting costs have risen markedly with the new buildings, the light bills being three times what they were.

Name Students for Goldsmiths

Six Punchard students have been chosen to take part in the annual Goldsmith prize speaking which will be held this year on Friday, December 18. Previously the freshman class has also taken part in the contest, but this year the high school consists only of the three upper classes.

WIRE-PULLING

That bunch of men around the Western Union office a week ago last Friday wasn't the same bunch of men around the same office on the next day, the day of the Exeter game, but if the first bunch of men hadn't been there Friday the second bunch wouldn't have been there Saturday.

Did you ever wonder how it is possible to read a play by play description of the Andover-Exeter game in the Boston papers an hour or so after the game ends, the intervening time being a little more than the time necessary to transport the papers from Boston out here? Those two bunches of men make this possible. One group comes in to town on the day before the game to make all the arrangements for wiring the stories from the field. Usually the direct wires to the paper are tied into the telephone company's wires up on the Hill, but this year all the telephone wires were in use, the result being that it was necessary to string about three miles of wire down to the railroad.

On Saturday the Morse men came into town. All this play by play material is sent by Morse code rather than by the Simplex machines now in use in the Western Union offices. There were six operators in the press box at the game, with each dotting and dashing off a reporter's story as fast as he wrote it. Down in the newspaper offices another operator was receiving the story, and before long those dots and dashes were transformed into type metal.

This all costs money. It costs the Western Union plenty to string those wires and to put on the extra men for the afternoon. And it costs the papers plenty, too; the wire rate is low, but the reporter has to be paid and so do the men who work down in the plant on the paper itself. The New York papers sent up staff men to cover the game, the Herald-Tribune sending Bill Taylor whose reporting of the America Challenge cup yacht races a couple of years ago won a Pulitzer prize for him. Some of the Boston papers made sure that the game was thoroughly covered, the Globe for instance having four men on the scene, a regular staff man to write the story for the Sunday paper, an office man to work on the statistics, the local reporter to wire the play by play for the Saturday football extra, and the Exeter town reporter to help in identifying the Exeter players.

The Andover reporter did more work than the Exeter man, but especially after that last touchdown he enjoyed the game more than did the Exonian.

THE CHILDREN LOSE A FRIEND

The children of Andover will find it hard to believe that next summer will come and go without their seeing a lone figure on a bicycle day by day pedalling his way down to Poms pond. Herbert Wright was a familiar figure to those youngsters who find the bathing beach at Poms a welcome spot at which to spend the hot days of summer vacation—a familiar and a well-liked figure. As a member and later chairman of the Poms pond committee, he was keenly interested in everything to do about the pond. He it was who at the end of every summer used to spend his time going around to secure funds from some of the town's citizens to provide ice cream, etc., for the children at the annual water carnival. The interests of the children he made his interests, and that is why Poms beach has improved year after year.

Hope to Obtain Posture Camera

A "Silhouetteograph," a camera, the purpose of which is to portray posture defects, will become a part of the equipment of the new gymnasium if present plans of those interested in this work go through. There was some discussion of this at the last Parent-Teacher meeting.

With the silhouetteograph only the outline of the child is photographed, and from the picture the posture defects are ascertained, permitting both teacher and pupil to work toward removing the defects at a period in the child's life when such corrective measures will bear fruit. The machine has proven most successful in other places.

Christmas Seals in Today's Mail

More than 4,000,000 Christmas seals, each one a mute plea for help in the unceasing fight against tuberculosis, were distributed to the residents of Essex county this morning by mail. Every year now for twenty-nine years the cheerful, little seals have been sent to the people, and as the universal importance of war against tuberculosis is increasingly recognized, the responses have been proportionately greater.

Most people know that the proceeds realized from the sale of the seals in Essex county are devoted solely to the maintenance of the Essex county health camp for children at Middleton and to carry on an extensive educational program to aid in the prevention of tuberculosis. The boys and girls who attend the camp are not tubercular themselves but are known to have been in direct contact with persons afflicted with the disease. Here, they spend eight weeks during the summer months acquiring the extra bit of resistance that is necessary to prevent the possible development of tuberculosis.

That the camp has well justified its existence is shown by the fact that out of the 710 children who have attended it since its establishment in 1924, only four have developed adult tuberculosis.

First Post Office in Andover Was Located in House Where George Washington Gave Girl a Case of Anti-Washitis

Old Andover Houses

The old Abbot tavern, at 70 Elm street, the house where a certain young lady is reputed to have gone a whole week without washing her face, is one of Andover's oldest and best-known houses. Of late years it was known as the Locke house.

The Abbot after which this house was named was Deacon Isaac, who in 1776 petitioned the General Court to be allowed to keep a house of general entertainment. The old house was probably nearly a century old when Deacon Isaac decided that the "extraordinary travel which is rendered necessary by means of the Army before Boston," also made it necessary for him to make a tavern of the old house. Elm street was then a stage road, and it was on this traffic that Deacon Isaac hoped to capitalize in his new stage roadside stand.

It was little Priscilla, Deacon Abbot's daughter, who forewent the facial washing for a whole week. In 1789 shortly after his inauguration George Washington came to the tavern for breakfast. The President in those days was like many of us today: he had holes in his clothes. He asked Priscilla to mend his riding glove, and when she finished he took her on his knee and kissed her. Then began the period of anti-washitis, and it is safe to say that if the President had returned a week later he would have found Prissy's face not very kissable.

The tavern was the first post office in Andover, it having acquired that status in 1795. Deacon Isaac also indulged in a few other professions during his lifetime. In 1728, five years out of Harvard, he was the thirteenth schoolmaster in Andover, and later he is recorded as keeping the first store in Andover.

GIRLS' FRIENDLY PLANS SUPPER

Two feature pictures and several shorts will be given Friday evening, December 11, in the Free church parish house under the auspices of the church school. Mickey Mouse comedies will be included, and Ben Rubin and his orchestra will furnish music.

It is hoped that enough money will be realized from the show to enable the school to purchase its own movie projector in time for the Christmas entertainment.

Poll of Telephone Subscribers Only Fair Way of Finding Sentiment on Toll Charges

In a recent communication to the Board of Selectmen, the chairman of the Telephone Utilities committee stated that if a vote by referendum showed that a substantial majority of the telephone subscribers desired a change to unlimited service between here and Lawrence, the committee would be willing to recommend this change. Previous votes taken on this subject did not show this substantial majority in favor of the elimination of the toll charge, the committee felt.

It could do no harm to ascertain once again the feelings of the telephone users on this point. The last poll was taken five years ago, and public opinion can change considerably in five years. In all the polls the vote has been very close, and there might have been a definite shift one way or the other in the past few years.

It is entirely a matter of dollars and cents to the local subscribers. If Andover were given unlimited service to Lawrence, Methuen and North Andover, it would become part of a larger area with a higher base rate than is now the case here in Andover.

In the case of one and two-party telephones the base rate would increase 50 cents a month from $2.75 and $2.25 to $3.25 and $2.75 respectively, and in the case of four-party 'phones it would increase twenty-five cents from $2.00 to $2.25.

Obviously a person's opinion on whether he wishes the toll charge eliminated and the higher base rate established will depend on just how frequently he calls Lawrence and the surrounding towns. Those on one and two-party lines who call Lawrence more than ten times a month would naturally prefer the higher base and no extra charge, while those who call less than ten just as naturally prefer to continue the present arrangement. The telephone company's stand on the matter is neutral; it would make the change if public opinion demanded it.

A poll would be the only fair way of settling the question, for if a majority of the subscribers call Lawrence frequently, they should not be made to pay a higher total monthly bill just because a minority do not find occasion to call Lawrence, and vice versa if a majority confine their telephonic conversations mainly to Andover, they should not have to pay a higher base because a minority do call Lawrence oftener than ten times a month. Let's find out which class is in the majority.

Somebody's dog down in Acton was left out of the social register, according to a news story last week. And they talk about social security.

It won't be long before we're able to get a probable starting line-up for that war they want to have over abroad. Here's hoping the U. S. doesn't enter a team in that league.

Well, which would you rather have: a snow shovel or a lawn mower?

Without going on a diet, the bird that was plump on Wednesday has become just a pile of bones today.

Hope to Reopen Richardson School

Many availed themselves of the opportunity last Saturday of inspecting the Richardson school closed about twelve years ago when the new Shawsheen school was opened. The newly formed Shawsheen Village Community association hopes to re-open the old school in the future.

Some of the people who came were in all the grades of the Richardson school, others had relatives who taught there in times past, and others came who were pupils only a short time until they were placed in the new school. All expressed their interest and approval in the contemplated venture which the Community association is putting forward. Many offered their time and services to help put the building in condition.

There are many purposes which have been suggested for the building and its grounds. The village might use the ground for a play ground and the building for exhibition purposes. It might make a good club centre. A branch of the Andover library, on a small scale for the exchange of books only could be placed here. And as one man said, recently, a club where men only could play cards one night a week would be a God-send.

At the next meeting of the board of directors the suggestions and services offered will be taken up. It will be some time, of course, before the project can be perfected, but at least this new organization feels that the sentiment expressed by residents from all parts of the village warrants their making the effort to open this building for community purposes.

Henshaw Paintings at Local Gallery

A group of oil paintings and pastels by Glen Cooper Henshaw are being shown at the Addison Gallery until December 20th. Henshaw is an American of the older school who has been known chiefly for his pastels. In his oils as well as in his pastels we see his preference for suggestion rather than plain statement. His handling of both of these media is therefore essentially the same; the forms emerge from a dark background by means of quick sharp accents of light. He may be said to follow the Impressionist tradition of Turner and Whistler, especially in his Venetian palaces and churches and in his night scenes in New York and Chicago.

The present exhibition includes five portraits in oil and twenty pastels: scenes in Venice and New York; ships; and portraits. Of the paintings in oil we may mention the "Portrait of a Man with a Glass" and the "Portrait of a Child in a Pink Dress" as perhaps the most individual; with a few short strokes of the brush he has been able to capture a fleeting moment in the life of his sitter. The transition to the pastels is made quickly and easily in the "Portrait of a Child" (pastel) and in the sketch of an old woman, "Aunt Kitty," which shows the strongest drawing of any work in the group. In the pastels the dark background which we saw in the oils is supplied by the greyish-brown paper on which they are done, and which serves equally well for the blues and the mauves of the Nocturnes or the soft yellows and light blues of the Venetian scenes. He shows Venice for the most part in sunlight and New York on wet nights when the lights are reflected in the pavements; but both "Ponte Santa Maria Nova" and "University Place" are expressions of a single conception of the representation of a scene. He does not define; he suggests. And while it lacks the force of clarity, it has a provocative quality which in the end is equally effective.

TAXES DUE

All 1935 taxes must be paid on or before December 24, 1936, or the collector will be obliged to proceed according to law. Excise taxes are due within thirty days of the date of the bill.

Abbot Academy Notes

The first appointment after the Thanksgiving holidays at Abbot academy will be a lecture on fencing by Captain Vical followed by an exhibition by Captain Vical and his daughter, Mrs. Miller, who is teaching French at Abbot this year. Mrs. Miller comes of a family skilled in the use of the foil as her grandfather was Fencing Master to the Imperial Guard of Napoleon III and her father is an accomplished swordsman. She herself has won several championships both in this country and in France. The lecture will be in French and will take place in Davis Hall at 8.30. The demonstration will follow the lecture.

On Sunday evening Rev. Raymond Calkins of Cambridge will be the speaker at the weekly Vesper service.

Two recitals which are coming to Abbot academy in the near future will be of interest to friends of Abbot academy. Miss Helen Howe, the well-known monologist, will give a program of original sketches on Saturday evening, December 5th at 8.15 in Davis hall. Miss Howe appeared at Phillips academy last year and delighted a large audience with her keen humor, and with her deep understanding of the characters she portrayed. Her program this year will not be a repetition of the one given last year.

Miss Kate Friskin will give a piano recital on the afternoon of December 6th at 4.30 o'clock. Her program will appear next week.

The public is cordially invited to these lectures. There will be a small charge for admission to Miss Howe's recital.

Weddings

Johnson-Lee

The West Parish church was the scene of a very pretty wedding last Friday evening when Miss Barbara Lee of 43 High street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Lee of High Plain road, became the bride of Harold Alfred Johnson of 20 Lincoln street. Rev. Newman Matthews conducted the ceremony, with Mr. Lee giving his daughter in marriage.

Miss Mildred J. Lee, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were sisters of the bridegroom, Mrs. Frederick McCollum of Lincoln street and Mrs. Theodore Tyler of Elm street. Mr. McCollum was best man, and the ushers were James Souter, Dino G. Valz, Fulton H. Lee and John Fredrickson.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white satin, Queen Elizabeth style, with a lace yolk, stand-up collar and lace inserts in the sleeves. There were three triangular lace inserts in the train. She wore a tulle and lace veil with a lace cap, and her flowers were white chrysanthemums.

The maid of honor wore a gown of bronze velvet with gold accessories and she carried a bouquet of bronze pompom chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids both wore royal blue velvet with gold accessories and they carried yellow pompom chrysanthemums.

John K. Hill sang "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly." Miss Doris Newton played the wedding march.

The church was decorated with evergreens and yellow chrysanthemums.

A reception was held in the West church vestry, after which the couple left on a wedding trip to the southern states. En route they attended the Harvard-Yale game Saturday. After December 15 they will be at home at the Aberdeen apartments, Shawsheen village.

Swenson-Melvin

Miss Frances Marion Melvin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Melvin of 76 Myrtle street, Lawrence, and Hilding Swenson of 81 Stevens street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Swenson of Worcester, were united in marriage at a ceremony held Saturday, November 14, in St. Mary's rectory, Lawrence, with Rev. Clement J. Dwyer, O.S.A., officiating.

Attending the bride was Miss Marie Melvin as maid of honor and James White was best man.

Robertson-Polgreen

Two very popular local young people were united in marriage at St. Augustine's church on Thanksgiving morning when Miss Hazel Ann Polgreen of River street, Ballardvale, daughter of Aubrey G. Polgreen, became the bride of John A. Robertson, son of Mrs. Mary Robertson of 6 Avon street. Rev. Henry B. Smith, O.S.A., officiated. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Cornelius Cussen, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mary Robertson, sister of the bridegroom and Kathleen Polgreen, cousin of the bride. Frank Robertson, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. The ushers were Alan T. Polgreen, William Crowley, Jr., and John F. McMahon.

The bride was charmingly gowned in white crepe shot with silver, with a finger tip veil of tulle held at the crown with a cluster of orange blossoms. She carried a prayer book with markers of lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Cussen wore rosewood lace with matching accessories, and the bridesmaids wore electric blue lace with matching accessories. They carried old-fashioned bouquets of fall flowers.

The altar was decorated with white pompom chrysanthemums, the pews being tied with white bows and baby chrysanthemums. Miss Annie G. Donovan, church organist, played the wedding march, and solos were rendered by Irene McCarthy and Frank Torrisi.

A reception was held at the November club following the ceremony. The couple will reside at 51 Century street, West Medford, following their return from a wedding trip.

Mr. Robertson is a construction engineer, having had charge of the erection of the new school plant here in Andover. He is now employed by Horne Brothers in Boston. He is a graduate of Phillips academy and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The bride has been cashier at the New England Equity in Lawrence. She graduated from Pynchard high and Burdett college.

Lynch-O'Leary

Miss Margaret V. O'Leary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius F. O'Leary of Salem street, and Maurice F. Lynch, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Lynch of Gray road were married yesterday afternoon at St. Augustine's church by Rev. Henry B. Smith, O.S.A. The bride was given in marriage by her twin brother, Cornelius A. O'Leary.

Miss Mary Elizabeth O'Leary, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, James A. Lynch, brother of the groom, best man, and the ushers were Joseph A. Lynch and Thomas V. O'Leary, also brothers of the couple.

The bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace, Princess style, with a full court train, and her veil was coronet style. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Her sister wore American Beauty moire taffeta, her hat and mitts being coronation blue velvet.

The church was decorated with yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Annie G. Donovan was at the organ and a solo was rendered by Mrs. May Mulvey of North Andover.

A reception was held at Bay lodge, Methuen. Following a wedding trip to New Jersey the couple will reside at 172 Parker street, Lawrence.

Ten needy families benefited this week through the efforts of the Mothers' club which distributed two big boxes full of food to each family, with nearly a week's supply of food. The boxes were packed Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred L. Collins of 36 Summer street.

The relief committee, consisting of Mrs. Fred L. Collins, Mrs. Alex Crockett, Mrs. Walter Downs and Mrs. Asa Stocks, was in charge.

An Appreciation

Rev. Mr. Beane

The Protestant clergy of Andover regret the removal of the Rev. Samuel C. Beane from the North Parish church and wish to express their high esteem of him in the Townsman. For ten years Mr. Beane has met with them in their monthly meetings and often the ministers have met at his home. They have profited by the papers he has read and his contributions to the discussion of important subjects. They have greatly enjoyed his fraternal and catholic spirit, his pleasant humor and gracious manner. They have a keen sense of loss in his removal from their circle and wish both him and Mrs. Beane much joy in their new home in Salem.

In behalf of the ministers, N. M.

EDITORIAL-MANUAL TRAINING

Manual training is perhaps the most practical subject offered in our curriculum to boys of average means, abilities, and ambitions.

It tends to bring out the craftsmanship that lies within a boy, and what boy does not have this trait lying within his soul? It is part of a boy!

Manual Training, under the supervision of Mr. Gahan, instructs the boy in the use of the carpenter's tools, machines, and other things which he uses. It teaches a boy how to read blueprints and carry out his project not only well, but effectively.

It is a great asset to the boy, the future leader and citizen of this great country of ours. It teaches him how to build! And, without building there would be no progress, and without progress there would be nothing.

Just think! The boy who takes manual training is given the chance to make anything his heart desires; anything that can possibly be made under such training. It is a subject that any real American boy likes to dwell upon.

These boys who take manual training in the new Andover junior high school know that opportunity only knocks once, and they are taking advantage of this fact. They have the best facilities of any junior high school in the state and they know it. They appreciate it, and the fruit of their labors is the sight of the finished projects that they know they have made.

I cannot begin to tell of the opportunities that this course offers, but those who take it can, and they are the ones who profit by it.

The boys know that that knowledge can not be taken away from them, and they show their adaptability to the subject in the excellent workmanship they put into their projects.—WARREN RICHARDSON

SKIT PRESENTED

In connection with the business classes a short skit on thrift was presented recently in the various divisions 9-3, 9-4, and 9-5. The play was entitled "John's New Tennis Racket" and stressed the idea that thrift of one's money is essential to buy accessories that are necessary. In 9-3 Howard Proctor and Robert Perry were the actors; in 9-4 George Douty and Hector Keith; and in 9-5 Warren Deymond and Donald Joy.—DOROTHY BARNET

As it was an informal debate, there was no winning side.—FRANKLIN ROBERTS, JR.

The girls of the eighth grade cooking classes last week visited the Hood milk plant in Lawrence. There the girls were taken through the different departments of the plant, shown all the sights, and Mr. Jackson, the man who showed the different departments at work, answered any questions that the girls had to ask. The girls enjoyed the trip very much, and it was most helpful for their study of milk. As the girls left the plant, refreshments were served with the compliments of the Hood company.—MADELEINE GROUT

"GUESS WHO" ASSEMBLY

As their contribution to the Book Week celebration, the members of the Book club sponsored an assembly last Friday. The Library club co-operated wholeheartedly in making the program a success. The program was in the form of a parade of favorite story characters. Catherine Jowett, president of the Book club, described each character portrayed, without naming the character or book. The audience was to guess the name of the character and the book in which it appears. At the close of the assembly, as each character left the stage, he was named and placed in his respective book. Among the characters portrayed were: Elaine Rainville as "Alice in Wonderland"; Kathleen Valentine as one of "The Spanish Twins"; Grace Stewart, "An Old-Fashioned Girl"; Joseph McCarthy in the role of "Dr. Doolittle"; "Anne of Green Gables" portrayed by Mary Regan; "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," Margaret Gordon; "Jo," from "Little Women," Helen Brickett; "Tilden" from "Sand," Martha Tyler; "Garry Ellis," of "Winterbound" Eleanor Rafton. Andover's Fire Chief, Once a Trolley Car Motorman, Now Finds Principal Diversion in Trailer

Fire Chief Ed Wynn once used to talk considerably about his horse, but Andover's fire chief, Charlie Emerson, has something better than a horse; he has a trailer. Of course horses are nice in their way, but you can't live in them, although some people have been trying to live on them in the past few years.

Most everybody has had a desire to possess a trailer and go vagabonding over the country, putting up for the night at any old place along the road without having to tip a bell-boy for carrying luggage up in an elevator. Charlie has made that desire come true, and for the past two years he has had a trailer. The one he owns at present, bought this year, has just about everything you'd want in an itinerant home. This summer he toured up into Canada in it.

Trailers are still something of a novelty in transportation circles, but count on Charlie to try them. He's tried almost every other kind of transportation there is. In 1904 he became a motorman on the street railway, on the route from Reading to Andover and Lawrence. It cost ten cents in those days to go from here to Reading, and five cents from here to Lawrence, with a transfer to take you on to Methuen and North Andover. Electric car business was at its height then, it not being an unusual sight to see a string of seven cars following each other on the Reading-Lawrence route on Sundays. It's one an hour now.

In 1906 Charlie went with the B. B. Tuttle express, doing local trucking. He bought the firm out in 1910, his equipment being six horses and one small Ford truck. He sold out in 1924.

Oldest in Department

The Chief is probably the oldest man in point of service in the department. In 1909 he became a callman, in 1919 he was made a call lieutenant and in 1920 he was appointed chief engineer with Lew Pomeroy and Harry Wells. It was in 1924 that he was made permanent chief.

When he first started in 1909, all the engines were horse-drawn, there being a ladder truck, supply wagon, steamer and a hose wagon in the Central Fire station, and a hose wagon in the Vale. In 1912 the first motor piece was bought, and it is still in service in the Vale. In 1914 the first pump was bought, in 1923 a ladder truck was added and in 1928 the combination was bought, with the horses finally passing out of the picture.

The chief was the chief source of attraction down in North Reading on June 22, 1877. He attended school there, graduating from the North Reading high school when he was fifteen. He was married on his birthday in 1904. There is an adopted daughter, Mrs. Madeline Dodge who has three children.

The most exciting fire the chief ever went to was the Treat Hardware company fire in Lawrence. At the time of the Arch-

Charles Emerson
(Andover Art Studio)

bald Wheel company fire in Lawrence, he was ill and could not go. That was the fire which made the Lawrence department decide on motorized equipment after seeing how efficiently Andover's worked. One of the worst fires to handle was the Bartlett hall fire in 1914 when there was just a solid glare of ice, it being necessary to crawl on your hands and knees to climb the bank near the hall. Strangely enough the most terrifying sight he has ever seen was not a fire, but was the train wreck near Burnham road a number of years ago.

Punchard High and Johnson High Teams Slide to Scoreless Tie

Punchard high wound up its 1936 football season yesterday by engaging in a scoreless slip-fest with Johnson high on a mud-beleaguered Playstead gridiron. Jupe Pluvius had the night before seen to it that all the football both teams had learned this year was made useless.

Johnson, with heavier players, had the edge in the first half, the Punchard backs being unable to get footing enough to start off on any of their end runs. At half-time sawdust was spread on the center of the field, the ends having been covered before game time, and the Punchard lightweights proceeded to throw a scare into the North Andover aggregation. Ray Lynch scooped up the opening kick-off and dashed through the team to be run out on Johnson's 30. Then the attack that hadn't clicked before got underway, and in a few plays Punchard was on the ten-yard line, where a disastrous fifteen-yard penalty set Punchard back and ended the threat.

Johnson made nine first downs, and Punchard made six, with the visitors making more yardage. Lynch was the local team's outstanding ground-gainer, with Noyes playing his best game of the season. Bisset's kicking did much to stave off defeat.

Playing for Punchard were: Gibson, Barrett, Whiting, Flaherty, Lenane, Sheehy, Sanders, Bisset, Hanson, Dushame, Noyes, and Lynch.

Town Team Ties in Final Game

The Andover A. A., with a safe 6-0 lead tucked away as the game with the Haverhill I. Y. M. A. team was drawing to a close Sunday, saw the lead vanish in thin air when Ricker grabbed in a forward to score the tying points for the Haverhill eleven.

Andover scored in the second period as the result of a first period march featured by good aerial play. With the ball on the five-yard run Bill Tammany skirted the end to score. Later in the same period Andover brought the ball down to the one-yard line, the intermission ending the threat.

Playing for Andover were Deyermond, Elder, Winters, Todd, Waldie, Barton, Petrie, Winkley, Morrissey, Loosigian, Hilton, Tammany, Skea, Sparks, O'Connor and Cole.

Punchard Scores Early to Win 14-7

Scoring two touchdowns in the first quarter the Punchard high team piled up a fourteen point lead which Reading high's late game rush was unable to overcome Saturday in Reading, and Punchard came out on top 14-7.

Hanson and Lynch put Punchard in the lead with short plunges through the line, and they both made the necessary conversions. Punchard had several other chances to score but the Reading line held for downs.

In the final period Reading's attack showed its first real power. Art Beaudoin scored after intercepting a pass and running 85 yards, with Dezaney converting. Later threats were futile.

Playing for Punchard were: Sanders, Barrett, Whiting, Lenane, Flaherty, Sheehy, Gibson, Bisset, Hanson, Noyes, Dushame, Miller and Lynch.

SOCCER GAME POSTPONED

The soccer game scheduled between Methuen and Andover for the playstead yesterday was postponed.

All donations will be gratefully accepted. The committee includes: Miss Gertrude White, chairman; Ruth Watson and Helen O'Brien.

Announce Prize in Bird Contest

The prize offered to the Boy Scout of the Andover district who builds and maintains the best bird feeding station is to be a one and a half dollar ($1.50) credit towards anything he chooses from the official boy scout catalogue. Just a brief scan of the catalogue shows canteens, mess kits, belt axe, fire making sets, flashlights, signaling flags, archery equipment, tools, first aid kits, compasses, and scout jewelry. Then there are pages of books and pamphlets, real life adventure stories as well as books on how to camp, build boats and cook in the open.

The contest will close December 15. Every scout participating must before that date send a postal card to Commissioner F. Tyler Carlton, 33 Summer street, giving the scout's name, his troop, and the place where the bird feeder can be seen for judging.

Those in charge of the contest suggest that the seeds small birds seem to like the most are hemp, white millet, and sunflower seeds.

First Snowstorm Endangers Driving

Andover had its first snowstorm of the year Tuesday. Though not heavy enough to necessitate any plowing, the snow did make the roads very slippery toward noon with many cars turning completely around when they were forced to stop. The streets were sanded before any serious accident occurred.

Officer William R. Shaw found during the morning that the police shanty in the square could be a roundhouse. A truck pulled up to ask for some information, and it skidded into the shanty, with both truck and shanty whirling around several times. Officer Shaw reached for the side of the shanty that the door was on before the merry-go-round started and found that the door had gone around to the other side. A street railway bus skidded into a light standard, breaking the globe.

Both Occupants Escaped Serious Injury; Both Might Have Been Dead

Andover's Sudden Death Series

The passengers in the car shown in the accompanying picture, like those in the car pictured last week, miraculously escaped death, although as can be seen very little was left of the machine.

This crash took place just about ten years ago, on October 29, 1926, at about one o'clock in the morning. It happened on South Main street, near the home of Newton Jaquith, at practically the same spot where Mrs. Jaquith had been seriously injured just a week before.

Two young South Lawrence men were riding in the machine when it crashed into the rear of a truck driven by a North Reading man. Then it veered off to the side, tearing along against the side of the truck, with both machines finally pulling up in the middle of the road.

Both young men were removed to the hospital. In this case the passenger rather than the driver was the more seriously hurt, because of the way in which the crash happened. Both might have been dead.

(The picture is another provided from the files of the police department by the chief.)

Garden Club to Meet on Tuesday
